Dear Jim:

Congratulations on starting your own company. We all wish you great success.

We would be happy to help you, if you like, by showing potential clients our building and telling them about how it was to work with you on its construction.

Once all the approvals from the township were in hand, the project moved along briskly and finished on schedule. I think it was the first construction project in my experience to be completely finished without my needing to chase down the contractor repeatedly to get small details done!

Sincerely,
